

Intelligence. January 7: 1891. Timms & Co. Sale - W. H. Macfie, Administrator. The Time - R. T. Matthews, Editor. Returns - I. N. Withers, Auditor. Copartnership - G. W. & Son. Elements of the Season - Q. D. & Co. Partnership Notice - H. E. Ketchin. Copartnership - R. B. Hanahan, Jr. McCreight's family have moved to the old Fairfield Hotel. Simpson has rented into the store formerly of T. Lumpkin. Office was thronged on payers, in fact every office and store. Ladies' shoes were left in offices by some taxpayer can get them by - Preston Rison and family have moved to town, and occupy the Baptist parsonage. Rev. Mr. Briscoe will board with them. Several of the tracts of land advertised for sale by the Clerk of the Court on Monday were withdrawn from sale by parties interested. There was a large number of our Ridgeway neighbors in town on Monday. We are always glad to see them, and hope they will come oftener. Mr. D. H. Stevenson and family arrived on Thursday and took possession of the Winstboro Hotel which he will manage this year. We wish him success. R. R. Park's son, Mack Park, shot himself in the hand on December 31st, while handling a pistol. He was attended by Dr. R. B. Hanahan, Jr., and is doing well. Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Crawford have come to house keeping in Mrs. Ellen Cathcart's house, and Mrs. Cathcart and Mrs. Walker are boarding with Dr. T. B. Madden. The clerk sold in the care of H. L. Elliott and others, N. C. Robertson 800 acres of land, less 192 acres sold off. Bought by Ragdale & Ragdale, attorneys, at $2,584. The County Commissioners have examined the petition for the railroad election, and have decided to order it to be held. Official action will be taken at their next meeting. Married on December 30th last at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Geo. G. Robinson, by the Rev. E. P. Lupo, Mr. R. T. Roberts and Miss Maggie Robinson. We had the pleasure of a call from Col. J. L. Minnaugh, of Columbia, on Friday. It is a treat to talk to one so hopeful of the future; so energetic, enterprising and progressive. The Clerk of the Court received a large number of notices to the new trial justices and also Treasurer McMeekin of their appointment to office, and was busy on Monday handling them out. A big advertisement of Q. D. Willford & Co. will appear in our next issue in which they will offer big bargains in millinery and other goods. Profit or cost no object. Wait for it and profit by it. Monday was a busy day and a large crowd was in town, notwithstanding the fact that it was the coldest day of the year. But our tract of real estate was sold by the Clerk, and many horses, mules and vehicles were sold. Dr. R. B. Hanahan, Jr., has returned from Mississippi where he has been practicing his profession, and has formed a co-partnership with his father, Dr. R. B. Hanahan, for the purpose of practicing medicine and surgery. James Mays, colored, who lives in the Scruggs neighborhood, was on his way to town on Monday; when near town he was struck with paralysis. He was brought to town and was kindly cared for in the office of Judge J. L. Elliott. Quite a large crowd was entertained in the lot in rear of the bank on Monday afternoon by the efforts made by a gentleman from the county trying to ride a bucking mule. It was equal to a ten cent circus and we believe the fight ended in a draw. The Winstboro Dramatic Troupe will start to-night rehearsing the play called "The Marine's Return." Rehearsing has been delayed for some time for several reasons, but they expect to go right on and present the play some time this month. All of our College students returned to Columbia on Saturday to resume their studies except Mr. H. L. Elliott, Jr., who left on Monday. We hope the boys enjoyed their holiday and go back prepared for hard study. We shall look for them taking front rank at commencement. Mr. William McCauley has bought liquor stock of Mr. R. P. Lumpkin and will open up in the store formerly occupied by R. T. Matthews as a grocery store. McCauley has had considerable experience in this line and we feel satisfied he will give satisfaction to his many friends. Hilliard Hall, colored, died of White Oak on last Friday. He was probably the heaviest man in the county, weighing about 850 lbs. No coffin could be found strong enough for his remains, and one was made to order. It took eight men to lower the coffin into the grave, and our visit to White Oak was that the Canning Factory has been productive of good in the way of egg market gardening. One of our neighbors in that neighborhood $50 on a quarter of an acre. We hope to see these facilities in different places in

Works, is out in to-day's issue offering his entire stock at cost for the next thirty days. He has some fine stock on hand and early buyers will secure the best bargains. He also extends positive notice to debtors to come up and settle and save trouble. The attention of the town authorities is called to the condition of Vandorhast street. The square from the A. R. P. Church to College street is almost impassable for vehicles, and we do think some work ought to be done on it. Our reporter drove down that way a few days ago and his buggy received quite a shaking up. There is only one sidewalk on this square and that ought to be improved. The colored people had quite a lively and enjoyable day on new year's day, it being the anniversary of Emancipation. They had speaking and other exercises and a large procession. They had a visiting band, that furnished good music. It was a very orderly and well-attended crowd and they seemed to enjoy themselves. We had no reporter present at the proceedings, as he was engaged elsewhere. The White Oak Alliance which is an offshoot of Snady Grove is now in active operation, with 22 members, it has for its offices the following: President J. M. Smith; Vice-President, S. H. Terrace; Secretary, R. H. Lucas; Treasurer, R. A. Patrick; Door-keeper, J. W. Wylie; Assistant Door-keeper, J. A. Lucas. They are considering the matter of borrowing money and doing business on a cash basis. We are sorry to have to report the loss from our midst of the family of Mr. W. H. Kerr. who removed last week to Greenwood. They have been with us thirteen years, and have made friends of the entire community. Mr. Kerr was for about eleven years the Clerk of Court, and made a very efficient and accommodating officer. We cannot well spare such citizens, and if Greenwood don't take good care of him, we stand ready to welcome him and his family back at any time. DEATHS.—Little Mary, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dubose Eggleston, died on Thursday night after a brief illness. The afflicted parents have the sympathies of the entire community in their bereavement. COMPLIMENTS OF THE SEASON.—Q. D. Willford & Co. are out in a new advertisement this morning thanking the public for the very liberal patronage received last year, and they now offer their entire stock as a mass of special inducements. Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. DEATHS.—Mrs. Samuel Crumpton, who was postmistress at Ridgeway, died at her home early on Sunday morning. She was buried on Sunday evening at Ainswell Church. Her remains were followed to the grave by a large concourse of friends. She leaves a husband and two children to mourn her sudden and unexpected death. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Lucas were called to mourn the loss of one of their children, who was buried at White Oak on Sunday. DISTRIBUTION OF PREMIUMS.—The Fairfield Agricultural Society met on Monday and distributed the remainder of the premiums offered for 1890 as follows: Largest yield of cotton 55 acres, 3,022 pounds lint, W. S. Weir, $10. Second largest, 2,920 pounds lint, H. G. Wylie, $5. Largest yield of lint cotton on one acre, 848 pounds, F. A. Neil, $5. Second largest, 632 pounds, T. L. Johnston, $2. Largest yield of corn on one acre, 591 bushels, John B. Patrick, $5. Second largest yield, 523 bushels, F. A. Neil, $2. The executive committee of the Society on the first Monday in February at 12 o'clock. Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. CHANGE OF RESIDENCE. Dear Herald: Please send my paper hereafter to Chappell's (Newberry county) instead of Spring Grove, as I have recently removed and settled permanently near the former place. Please request all correspondents to address me at Chappell's. Respectfully, B. F. CORLEY. December 30, 1890. LEMON ELIXIR. Its Wonderful Effect on the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys and Blood. Dr. Moxley's Lemon Elixir is a pleasant lemon drink that positively cures all Biliousness, Constipation, Indigestion, all Sick and Nervous Headaches, Kidney Disease, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Fevers, Chills, Palpitation of Heart, and all other diseases caused by disordered liver, stomach and kidneys, the first great cause of all fatal diseases. 50 cents, and $1 per bottle. Sold by druggists. Prepared only by H. Moxley, M. D., Atlanta, Ga.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889. Royal Baking Powder ABSOLUTELY PURE. PERSONAL.—Capt. C. S. Dwight has been in town for several days. The Captain came from New Orleans, where his office is, to spend the holidays with his family. He had quite a bad case of grip when he arrived, but is getting better. He reports an epidemic of grip in New Orleans, there having been about 35,000 cases up to the time he left. Mr. and Mrs. Arrowsmith and Mrs. Ferris, who have been for some time running the Winstboro Hotel, left on Wednesday for Georgetown, S. C., where they will open a hotel. They have our best wishes for success in their new home. Major James Pagan and wife returned from Charleston on Saturday, where the Major has been having an operation performed on his eye. We learn that the operation was a successful one, and we hope he will soon be about our streets. Mrs. E. J. Powell and family, of this county, has removed to Columbia, where she expects to reside. Mr. N. S. Turner has returned after spending the holidays at his home in Gaffney City. Messrs. H. N. Ober and C. A. Douglass left on Thursday for Columbia where they expect to reside and practice law. We shall miss them from our streets, but we know they will do well in their new home and will not forget the Bureau. BROWN-JEFFRIES. There was a wedding in the Hotel Duval on Monday, the Rev. R. Herbert Jones officiating. The contracting party being Mr. Charles A. Brown, of Ocala, Florida, and Miss Annie F. Jeffries, of Baltimore, Md., lately in the employ of Q. D. Willford & Co. Mr. Brown is one of Ocala's energetic and promising young business men. The bride wore a traveling dress of heliotrope serge and hat to match. She is the youngest daughter of the late Captain Joseph R. Jeffries, of Warsaw, Richmond County, Virginia, and the granddaughter of the late S. S. Hunt, of Richmond County, Va. The bridal party took the south-bound train for their future home, Ocala, Fla. They have our best wishes. When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria. ALBION ITEMS. On Sunday before Xmas the store of L. W. Henry & Co. was broken into in the daytime and thirty-five dollars in cash stolen. The rogue was not caught, but there are suspicions of his identity. Miss Jordan, of Bowman, S. C., is on a visit to friends in this section. Mr. L. W. Henry, of Holman, S. C., is visiting friends and relatives here. December 30, 1890. EAST WATERBURY ITEMS. Christmas passed off quietly and a new year has come with but little changes. The laboring class seems well satisfied, and no symptoms of the Arkansas fever is to be seen. The newly built house of Mr. W. A. Smith was the scene of a merry-making crowd last Friday night. Miss Adeline Pife, whose house was recently burned, will soon commence to rebuild. H. G. Wylie is preparing to have his house remodeled. The young people are looking with anxiety to the completion, as an entertainment is expected. The Waterbury Prize Club will meet next Tuesday evening at Mr. F. A. Neil's. A full attendance is requested. Mrs. N. G. Hendrix has returned from North Carolina and will reside with her son, W. E. Hendrix. Miss Maggie Hamilton, of White Oak, visiting Miss Mamie Rawls. Miss Mary Rowe spent yesterday at her home. January 5, 1891. What a Former Fairfieldian Thinks of His Old Home. Messrs. Editors: Enclosed please find $1.50, for which please pass to my credit and acknowledge receipt for same. We had a wet Xmas; it rained very hard all day. Business has been very dull all fall. Money scarce, light crops and low prices will cause business to be dull next year. I do believe the people in South Carolina are getting along as well or perhaps much better than the people out here; therefore I would advise every one who has an idea of leaving the dear old State to look well before they go, for they will find no place like old South Carolina. I hope every one will vote for the railroad which is to go through Fairfield, for it will put new life in the people, as they will find a good market for everything which they raise and get good prices for same. I hope the day will soon come when you will have two or three railroads running through your town. Please give my kind regards to my old friend Jack Williams and the boys. Wishing you a happy New Year, I am yours truly, S. G. WILSON. Kosciusko, Miss., Dec. 26, 1890. Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

THE FANCY BALL. Comes and Passes With Great Brilliance. The Party, pants and their Costumes. Through every pulse the Music stole, And held sublime communion with the Soul; Wrung from the coyest Breast the impassioned sigh, And kindled rapture in the coldest Eye. Such was the effect as the airs of music touched the ears of those who gayly danced, on last Wednesday night under the sway of the sweet power of Bearden's Band. Whether the murmuring dying notes that fell "as soft as the snow on the sea," or the passionate strains that shook the heart trembling, whether slow or quick, they all alike, in their concord of sweet sounds, sweetened the pleasure, quickened the beat of the heart, made the eyes sparkle and flash with delight; and the subtle bloom of youthful cheeks, never yet ploughed with sorrows, gave their possessors grace and glow, "as the dew-diamond of early dawn graces the lily."

Under the well-kept time of a beautiful march telling its delightful measures up and down, from corner to corner, from side to side, from the floor to the ceiling of the large armory, until the whole building reverberated and seemed attuned to its enchanting notes and echoed back with enraptured delight, the merry dancers came forth, two by two, richly and gaudily attired; some dignified, stately and proud; some full of the restlessness and thrill of girlishhood and its auroral light illuminating them; some with a reckless bearing, but all filling almost faultlessly their respective personations.

This was begun the much-talked-of fancy ball.

It was a scene brim full of splendor such as has never been seen in Winstboro before. Verily, it did seem to one, beholding that charming troupe of beautiful and handsome women, that Tompkinson spoke the truth, and not without thought, when he said of women: "No Angel, but a dearer being, all dipt in Angel's wings, and breathing Paradise. Interpreter between Gods and men, who looked all native to her place, and yet On lips seemed to touch upon a sphere To gross to tread, and all male minds perforce Swayed to her from their orbits as they moved." And gilded her with music.

Yes, as the throng moved to and fro it was grand, a picture of dazzling glory and unspeakable splendor; and the tender lips breaking with the brightness of smile all about the scene and the many bearing of manly men, gallant and brave, were enough to provoke the profoundest admiration.

The Maid at the Court of England walked proud and wore the stamp of dignity on her brow; Night with her dewy freshness filled the air and through the dark blue depths of space her stars looked the spectacle with their silvery rays; Empress Josephine walked deservedly conscious of her noble blood; Folly verified the words of La Rochefoucauld: "There are follies as catching as contagious disorders," or as Shakespeare says: "Folly, in Wisdom hatch'd, hath Wisdom's warrant;" Mercury winged the messages of the gods; the Maid of Honor at the Venetian Court served charmingly in that role and her grace was universally admired; the Maid of Saragossa recalled the thrilling tragedy of the sinking of her lover and she bravely "filling his fatal part;" Ione was superbly grandiloquent; Butter-cup dispensed taffy in spite of the admonition of her cousins and aunt; "Old Fashion Girl" brought a brooding of memories long ago; the Doll Baby made the children glad; the Blue Bird's business embellished the picture; and Martha Washington made her admirers brood with miser love over the birth of the Republic.

This was the Fancy Ball in full progress, and after the German, beginning at 2 o'clock, gracefully led by Mr. J. H. Tillman, the dancers, at 4 o'clock in the morning, went home for rest at heart, and with pleasant memories of the end of the old and the beginning of the new year.

Thus was closed the most brilliant ball ever given in Winstboro.

The following are the young ladies who participated in the fancy ball, and their costumes:

Miss Marion Boyd, English court dress, red train, cream satin petticoat, plumes in hair. Very striking.

Miss Lill Caldwell, Night, black gauze with silver stars.

Miss Bratton, of York, Martha Washington, cream and pink tulle in cream and pink silk.

Miss Sally Wright, Folly, an especially attractive costume of blue satin with gold trimmings and bells.

Miss Hanna Rion, Mercury, costume cream and gold, short skirt and tunic, wings on shoulders, cap and sandals. One of the best.

Miss Lizzie Gerig, Venetian court dress in train, black and red satin, gold trimmings. Very handsome.

Miss Susie Ketchin, Maid of Saragossa, cream dress, unique jacket of black velvet trimmed with gold passementerie.

Miss Lizzie Kerr, Little Butter-cup, A becoming dress of black velvet bodice and trimmings.

Miss Fannie Creight, Old Fashion Little Girl, costume of embroidered mull with wreath of natural flowers.

Miss Lill Kitchin, Doll Baby, pink satin and velvet. A tasteful costume.

Miss Ida Sugebeimer, evening dress of cream satin, pink satin bodice, natural flowers artistically arranged.

Miss Rebecca Wolfe, a very handsome evening dress of red with black trimmings.

Miss Moore, of Hampton, Blue Bird, a very becoming dress of blue cashmere, profusely trimmed with ribbon.

Miss Moore, of Ridgeway, evening dress, cream albatross, red velvet bodice.

Miss Seize, of Trenton, white embroidered mull with natural flowers.

Miss Izzie Bratton, black street dress and very becoming.

Miss Gerry, of Arkansas, an attractive street costume, heliotrope.

Miss Tillman, of Edgefield, Ione in Last Days of Pompeii, a most exquisite costume of blue silk draped with gauze, profusely decorated with pearls.

Miss Addie Hanahan, Empress Josephine, costume of cream and pink. One of the most attractive.

Mrs. Ruff McDowell, of Ridgeway, Black silk dress.

Miss Cathcart, of Columbia, an elegant cream evening dress.

Miss Annie Aiken, a blooming debutant, looking lovely in a costume of blue.

Miss Laura Gerig, another debutant, equally as fascinating in a blue street dress.

Miss Lill Dwight, resplendent with youth and charmingly attired in a blue street dress.

Miss Marie Dwight, a debutant girdled with the anoral dawn of life, and becomingly dressed in a green street dress.

Miss Lou Dwight, a sweet blonde debutant in a green street dress.

Miss Maggie Rion, brown silk dress trimmed with iridescent passementerie, diamonds.

The following gentlemen participated:

Murray Robinson as "Mr. Pickwick"; D. G. Dwight as Sir Walter Raleigh; J. H. Hanahan as Sir Tombs; J. H. Tillman as Mr. Daniels, of Columbia, as a Texas Cowboy; T. F. Davis, of Killians, as Hamlet; Dr. David Aiken as Don Juan.

The following gentlemen attended in full dress:

Dr. R. B. Hanahan, Jr., H. L. Elliott, Ed. Gifford, F. W. Landerdale, Prof. Dixon, of Rock Hill, Samuel Hood, Mr. Mechem and Mr. Means, of Chester, Gus Aiken, of Abbeville, Mr. Dick, of Columbia, Dr. C. C. Creevy, of Columbia, Dr. George, M. W. Doan, of Edgefield.

Physicians recommended. All dealers keep it $1.00 per bottle. Contains his trade-mark and crossed red lines on wrapper.

GOLDEN WEDDING. The many friends of Rev. and Mrs. Willard Richardson will read with pleasure the following account of their golden wedding at their home in Houston, Delaware. The account clipped from the local paper and has been handed us by a friend.

Rev. Mr. Richardson was for many years a resident of Winstboro. In 1876 he was elected County School Commissioner and though elected on the Republican ticket received the election of Hampton and his commission was the first signed by Gov. Hampton after his inauguration. It was owing to the untiring and persistent efforts of School Commissioner Richardson that "order was produced out of confusion" in school matters and the school finances put upon a sound basis. Mr. Richardson was the originator of the Graded School idea in Winstboro and assisted materially in organizing Mt. Zion the first Graded School in the State outside of Charleston which afterwards became the western of those organized afterwards. Though late THE NEWS and HERALD joins the many friends of Rev. and Mrs. Richardson in wishing them many years of happiness.

Rev. and Mrs. Richardson celebrated the golden wedding, at their home in Houston, on Tuesday May 27. Mr. Richardson has lived a long and useful life. He was for many years a teacher. Through the war of the rebellion he was a chaplain in the 89 N. Y. S. Y. and for eighteen years a member of the common and high schools at Winstboro, South Carolina. He has now retired to his home in Houston to finish his days "respected by all and loved by those who know him well."

At about 4 p. m. the Wedding March was played at 31. The Rev. and the bride and groom entered the parlor, taking their places near the bay window. Mr. Bunstein, the pastor read aloud a most affectionate and delightful letter from the Rev. D. Torry, the minister who, fifty years ago, married Mr. and Mrs. Richardson at Honesdale, Pa. He also read a poem that had been written for the occasion by a former pupil of Mr. Richardson's. Mr. Bunstein then made a few appropriate remarks, in which he congratulated them on their long and happy life. He said, they had proved that marriage is not a failure but a holy thing and that, if their life had not been just what they had expected, he was sure they would say it had been better than if they had planned it. After the benediction the assembled friends, of which there were about forty, heartily congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, many kissing the bride and a few kissing the groom. After spending an hour in social intercourse and admiring Mrs. Richardson's flowers, the company adjourned to partake of an elegant supper in the commodious house of Mr. Pierce who lives in the city near the hotel. After listening to some piano and violin music the guests departed.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson seem to be living an ideal old age; with no traces of care or worry on their faces, with faculties unimpaired, they are passing this beautiful twilight of life awaiting the coming of a new and perfect day.

Why It is Popular. Because it has proven its absolute merit over and over again, because it has an unequalled record of cures, because its business is conducted in a thoroughly honest manner, and because it combines economy and strength being the only medicine of which "100 Doses One Dollar" is true—these strong points have made Hood's Sarsaparilla the most successful medicine of the day.

Be Sure. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get. "In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy one of his instead of Hood's; he told me that his was the best; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what I wanted. Hood's Sarsaparilla much good that I would not give up. I had my friends try it and they were cured. ELLA A. GOFF, 61 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists. Sold by C. L. HOOD.
